125 YEARS FOCUS ON THE REAL ESSENTIALS

KAHLES is celebrating 125 years of passion for optics. Pioneering spirit, high level of engineering skills and above all the ability to consistently focus on the real essentials have already distinguished our founder Karl Robert KAHLES, the inventor of the rifle scope as we know it today. He pioneered the further development of the rifle scope, which was emerging around 1900, and made it a worldwide success.

Subsequently, a multitude of innovations and intuitively simple products for hunting and shooting were developed, the perfection of which is a pleasure to experience. Just as our current family of HELIA rifle scopes.
